

Direct Information from the City in Your Inbox

If you have email, you may have noticed an increased number of e-newsletters you are receiving from business and organization contacts. E-newsletters are newsletters that are sent out on a regular basis to you via electronic mail (email). This fairly new type of marketing has the primary purpose of building upon the relationship of the organization with its customers.

The City has recently started using this form of communication to broaden our contact with the citizens of Arlington, as well as help decrease the cost of mailed communication, by supplementing with e-newsletters. We recognize that for many of you electronic communication is a more efficient way to reach you.

Currently we are sending out a monthly recreation e-newsletter and a monthly Arlington Update. In addition, the City will be sending a quarterly Arlington Airport e-newsletter and a quarterly economic development update. We also have plans to send out construction information ("Street Corner News") a few times a month to those who subscribe to this e-newsletter.

The City currently has a list of email addresses of people that have subscribed to receive email notifications for city council meetings or people that have attended a city sponsored event. These subscribers will be receiving the email version of the Arlington Update and Recreation Guide. If you would like these monthly emails, or would like to subscribe to the Airport e-newsletter, the economic development update, or the Street Corner News, please send us your email! Please call 360-403-3441 or email recreation@arlingtonwa.gov. You may un-subscribe at any time.

Message from the Mayor

Involvement in community activities, events, and in citizen government is the best way for individuals and organizations to build the ongoing relationships that ultimately lead to a collective vision for the future of our City. It is through community engagement that we can participate in the shaping of those public services that contribute to the quality of life that we have come to expect.

Summertime in Arlington is a great time for us to actively engage in our community. There is no more beautiful place to be than out and active in all the events, festivals and functions that define an Arlington summer!

Our Fourth of July Celebration and Grand Parade that has been part of our community for 120 years is the result of the enthusiastic involvement of people from many organizations. The parade is organized by our Cascade Valley Hospital while other events on the Fourth include the Pancake Breakfast hosted by our Arlington Rural Fire Department, the Pedal Paddle Puff triathlon, the Kiwanis auctions, the Stilly Duck Dash sponsored by the Rotary Club, and the grand finale of Fireworks provided by the Rotary and the Arlington Chamber of Commerce.

Following the Fourth of July celebration, Arlington gears up for the Fly-In and Street Fair organized by the Downtown Arlington Business Association. The Fly-In is a nationally recognized aviation event at our airport that I have been involved with for 28 years. As Director of the Fly-In I work closely with 517 volunteers who make this event possible.

On the back of this flyer, you'll find additional community events, including Music in the Park, Outdoor movies, and more. All of these events are made possible by the many volunteers who are dedicated to community engagement. I want to thank those folks and remind you that there is plenty of opportunity to become involved in our community. From the citizens who serve on our boards and commissions to the individuals and organizations engaged in sporting events that bring the community together; the investment of your time and talent will strengthen the future health of our City.

Community engagement takes many forms, if events and activities aren't your choice you can go to the city website <http://www.arlingtonwa.gov> to talk to us, ask a question or make a service request. This communication will allow us to keep you informed of the results of your request or question. This publication highlights some of the new tools we have developed to keep you informed so you can engage with us in making this a better place to live, work and play.

Enjoy an engaging summer! Mayor Barb Tolbert

Arlington 9/11 Memorial

Under the leadership of Chief Bruce Stedman, the Arlington Fire Department has acquired one of the treasured structural beams of the New York World Trade towers. The New York Port authority has sent these artifacts of the tragedy of 9/11 out to fire departments around the world to commemorate the loss of nearly 3,000 lives, the incredible courage of our first responders, and the recommitment of a nation to its founding ideals and principles.

The attacks on the World Trade Center towers resulted in the largest concentrated emergency service response in American history. At least 100 EMS units raced to the site to set up triage centers from which people were moved to area hospitals. More than 2,000 New York and Port Authority police officers secured the area, searched the Towers and rescued survivors. But the response was, first and foremost, a Fire Department operation.

For that reason, our local firefighters feel a special connection to the events of that day; to all of the firefighters who participated in rescue operations, and particularly to those who subsequently lost their own lives.

The Arlington 9/11 memorial is about the tragedy of all those who lost their lives, about their families and friends, and for a grieving nation. But above all, it is about the firefighters and police who gave their own lives in the very same line of duty faced by emergency responders on any given day in every city and town across our country. It is certainly a memorial to everything we lost on 9/11; but more than that, it is a testimonial to the courage, skill, and unselfish dedication of the men and women who are still risking their lives to insure the safety of ours.

From the concrete rubble at the base of the towers symbolizing a day of utter chaos in New York to the quiet solitude of the skyline in the background, we are moved from a profound sense of loss to a renewed hope that from the selflessness of 343 firefighters and 23 police officers we will emerge a stronger, smarter, and more compassionate nation.

To make a donation to help fund the memorial please call the Arlington Fire Department at 360-403-3600 or donate online at <http://www.arlingtonwa.gov/fire>.

Safeguard Your Property, Thefts Have Increased

During this past year we have seen a significant increase in theft cases, especially burglaries where the suspects are entering a building or residence. On several occasions homes were entered while the occupants were present which creates an added safety threat to those being victimized. Unfortunately, most of these thefts are somehow connected to the illegal use of drugs.

The Arlington Police Department reminds you to take extra precautions to safeguard your property. Keep your doors locked; do not leave valuables in plain sight, especially in your vehicle; use lighting around your home or business to make it less inviting to criminals; consider leaving a radio or television on while away for short periods. Above all, be aware of what is going on around you and your neighbors. Forming a Neighborhood or Business Watch Group is an excellent way to watch out for each other. If something does not look right it probably isn't. Call 911 to report suspicious people or activities. The Police Department needs your help by providing another set of eyes and ears to help rid our community of those who prey on others.

Contact the Arlington Police Department at 360-403-3400 if you would like more information on organizing a Neighborhood or Business Watch Group.

Making Your Life Easier Through Online Services

There are a variety of resources and services available to the citizens, businesses, and visitors of Arlington. It is our goal to make your life easier by providing useful information that is easily accessible and services that can be accomplished on-line.

One of the functions of our website is the Citizen Service Request feature. Citizens can easily request city services, track their requests on-line, and see where it is in the process of being resolved. You may have a question about a sidewalk repair or have a business licensing question. Just go to the City's website home page at <http://www.arlingtonwa.gov/> to access the Citizen Service Request form.

Requests are automatically routed to the appropriate City staff person for response. City staff can also log your requests if you call, drop in, or mail us your request. Most requests are responded to within two days, but the City gives a response time of ten days as the expected closing date. When the request is closed, the customer receives an email with a response to the request. This system is a tool to provide better communication and customer service, and it also has benefits to tracking and archiving requests.

Another online service is Xpress Bill Pay. Utility customers can use this service to make payments on-line using a credit card. There is no fee to use this service. Xpress Bill Pay is fast, secure and convenient. Just go to the homepage at <http://www.arlingtonwa.gov/> and click on Pay Your Bills.

Are you considering a construction project at your home or business in Arlington? We now also have the ability to search and track permits, and request inspections. Located under Doing Business link on the website www.arlingtonwa.gov, you will find information under Track Your Permit and Schedule an Inspection. Alternately, you can directly visit the following links: <http://www.arlingtonwa.gov/inspections> and <http://www.arlingtonwa.gov/permitstatus>.

Fill the Boot Event

On Saturday May 5, members of the Arlington Fire Department participated in the 2012 Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) Fill the Boot event. The Muscular Dystrophy Association was formed in 1950 to combat neuromuscular diseases through research, programs providing medical and support services, and public health education. Since 1954 firefighters have stood by MDA in the fight against neuromuscular disease in raising money and awareness. Fill the Boot is one of MDA's biggest fundraisers and 100% of the money raised goes to MDA.

Last year, Arlington citizens donated approximately $2,000 and this year, they more than tripled that at $6,500 and counting.

It's not just about collecting money. For the Arlington Fire Department, it's personal. A child of one of their own was born with muscular dystrophy so everything they do for MDA, from the Muscle Walk to Fill the Boot, is done to support him as well as the other children and adults affected by this disease.

The Arlington Fire Department wishes to thank the fire personnel who donated their time as well as the citizens who dug deep to support this worthwhile cause.

City Spring Cleaning Event June 9, 10am-3pm

Chief for a Day

Kody Cunningham has been selected as the Arlington Police Department 2012 Chief for a Day. Kody is a fifth grade student at President's Elementary who enjoys fishing, basketball, soccer and baseball. On August 16, Kody and his mom Lynnea will be joining Police Chief Nelson Beazley and other members of the Arlington Police Department at the Washington State Criminal Justice Training Commission in Burien for a full day of activities and demonstrations.

Before the big event at CJTC, Kody will be leading the 4th of July Parade with lights and siren and will then circle back around jumping in another vehicle to be honored as the Grand Marshal of this year's parade. There are other events planned prior to August 16th so that Chief Kody will enjoy his tour as the Arlington Police Department 2012 Chief for a Day.

This is Arlington Police Department's first time participating in the Chief for a Day program. Over 27 Washington agencies are participating in the program this year. A special thanks to Sergeant Kay Schander and Officer Jeff Graves for assisting on this worthwhile project.

Focus on Economic Development

Economic Development remains important to the sustainability of the Arlington Community. New and expanding businesses not only create job opportunities for our residents but business activity attracts other business activity. Businesses buy services and supplies within the supply chain, employees make purchases on their way home or stop for lunch. A vibrant business community helps create the attractive community we all enjoy.

In December of 2011, developers and the City completed a Binding Site Plan for the re-development of the old Bayliner boat site. Meridian Yachts closed the boat manufacturing facility in 2008 and the nearly 470,000 square foot facility has remained unoccupied the last several years. The facility is now re-opening as Arlington Advance Manufacturing Center and will become home to many diverse manufacturers. Currently about 50 percent of the facility has been leased and many of the remaining buildings are being looked at by potential tenants. The increased interest in industrial space in Arlington has not been limited to AAMC; other manufacturing centers in Arlington such as Westar Properties have seen an increase in activity this year.

Having the right tools to attract and retain business is important to our success. On May 17, the City hosted a Business Round Table discussion with representatives from the Economic Alliance of Snohomish County and about 20 members of the local business community. The discussion centered around how to address regional issues affecting Arlington's local businesses.

One attraction businesses have to Arlington is the outstanding work force. Arlington is investigating opportunities to have a technical training facility located in our community. The City has met with representatives from Everett Community College to begin these discussions.

We are also creating opportunities to add retail services to our community. The City Council recently added property to our commercial zoning area on 172nd St NE; this will increase the availability of property for retail activities. The City Council also approved an ordinance that temporarily suspends some impact fees for existing buildings that are changing uses. For more information on Economic Development opportunities in Arlington, please contact Paul Ellis at 360-403-4603 or pellis@arlingtonwa.gov.

Centennial Trail News

With the recent construction and improvements to the Centennial Trail, Arlington has seen a large increase in trail traffic. The Centennial Trail now stretches from the City of Snohomish through the City of Lake Stevens, north to Arlington and beyond to Bryant. Snohomish County manages the trail in all unincorporated areas, and the City of Arlington maintains the trail from 172nd Street to Haller Park. The County plans to complete the trail to the Skagit County line in the late fall of 2012. The final project will be approximately 29 miles of paved trail and additional side trail for horses. To have a safe and enjoyable trip on the trail, we want to share a few trail etiquette points.

All users of trails: Always use caution when crossing streets and driveways. Show courtesy to other trail users at all times. Use the right side of the trail except when otherwise designated. Always pass on the left and announce that you are passing. Respect the rights of property owners. Keep dogs on a leash (maximum length 8 feet) and remove pet feces from trail. For more information about sharing the trail with horses visit <http://horsesees.blogspot.com/>.

Bicyclists: Yield to pedestrians and horses. Give audible warning when passing pedestrians or other bicyclists. Ride at a safe speed. Slow down and form a single file in congested conditions, reduced visibility, and other hazardous conditions.

Pedestrians: Stay to the right side of the trail. Yield to horses. Watch for other trail users. Be especially alert when running. Listen for audible signals and allow faster trail users (runners and bicyclists) to pass safely.

Equestrians: Make sure the trail is designated for horses (horses are not allowed on the Haller Trestle). Remove horse feces from paved trail. Be aware of approaching walkers and bicyclists, and talk to them as they approach. This will help the horse be aware that people are approaching. Ride single file.

If you want to explore the Centennial Trail from Arlington, there are several nice public areas to park your vehicles. Haller Park, located at 1100 West Avenue, has parking, restrooms, a picnic area, and play equipment. Legion Park, located downtown at 114 N Olympic Avenue, features new restrooms, visitor information, picnic area, and parking. The trailhead near 152nd Street on 67th Ave has a small parking area and portable toilets.

We are excited to welcome the tourists that this new recreation element will bring. It is estimated that there are 500,000 visitors on the Centennial Trail per year. We are working with the City of Snohomish, Lake Stevens, and Snohomish County to develop a trail map that features points of interest and retail areas. Arlington has partnered with the Arlington Arts Council and other community groups to help make our section of the trail special with murals, sculptures, benches, and landscaping. We are fortunate that the trail runs through our downtown center with access to restaurants, businesses, and parks. This is an economic opportunity for our city.

If you would like more information about the Centennial Trail in Arlington please call Arlington Parks and Recreation at 360-403-3448. More information about the Centennial Trail is available online at Snohomish County Parks <http://www1.co.snohomish.wa.us/departments/parks/> or visit the Centennial Trail Coalition website at <http://ctc-of-sc.blogspot.com/>.

Riverfront Master Planning

We would like to encourage citizens to take part in a planning effort to formulate a riverfront master plan for the long term future development along the south banks of the Stillaguamish River. A group of city staff, city council, and community members have met twice to get started and tour the area that will be included in the plan. The Riverfront Master Plan will include economic development, zoning/land use, commercial/residential development, design standards, recreational/environmental/art elements, open spaces, and marketing efforts.

Next meeting:

Thursday, June 7 at 5:30pm, Stilly Conference Room 154 Cox Ave.

City Employees Support Relay for Life

Shortly after taking office, Mayor Tolbert suggested that the City employees form a team for the 2012 Arlington Relay for Life. Not only did the employees, family members, and friends form a team, they have formed six "Team Arlington" teams with 65 people participating to date. This has earned them a Silver Level fundraising recognition which we hope to increase to Gold before the Relay event.

Team Arlington participants held several fundraisers during their personal time, including pumping gas, a poker tournament, proceeds from a Panda Express fundraiser, raffles for golf and other gift cards. Team Arlington is honoring past city councilmember Scott Solla with a purple memorial t-shirt that they will wear during the event.

Thank you to the many employees involved in the fundraising effort as well as coordination of the teams. Our champion fundraiser has been Police Detective Rory Bolter. Rory has a special commitment to Relay. His father died of cancer in May of 2009 after he was diagnosed 3 months prior. "I was thankful that he was able to meet his granddaughter Abby. I cannot tell you how hard it is to lose a parent, and it was even harder to see my father in pain due to the cancer." This year and every year since 2009, Rory walks in the Relay for Life in hopes to help find the cure.

Relay for Life is a national event sponsored by American Cancer Society to raise funds to fight cancer. Team members take turns walking around a track during a 20-hour period. Food, games and lots of entertainment are available. A special survivors' lap and luminaria ceremony make for an emotional and memorable evening. Arlington Relay for Life is Saturday June 23 at 1pm through Sunday June 24 at 9:30am. Join over 100 of Arlington teams at this fun event or make an online contribution! For more information visit <http://www.relayforlife.org> and enter 98223 for event location.
