Facebook recently posted a copy of a letter addressed to Glen Eagle residents regarding a hot dip galvanizing process plant proposal on 67th Ave NE. While I don't live in Arlington city limits, I do live in Arlington on 67th & drive past the Glen Eagle entries daily. Your public notice about this issue was not made available to residents not directly near the proposed location & the public notice expired Jan 2024.

I do appreciate business coming into Arlington for various reasons but strongly feel a business such as the hot dip doesn't belong near a residential development nor on a road traveled daily for thousands of people that will be inhaling fumes or toxins created by the business. While the employer will equip employees with proper safety equipment & warnings about the chemicals/toxins to be exposed to, the general public will not. The fumes & toxins are poisonous to all. Not just the young or elderly, but to all ages that will be exposed to the fumes. My husband is at a higher risk of detrimental health issues if exposed to these fumes & as we travel 67th daily, this is a huge concern for us.

A better location, in my opinion would be in one of the industrial parks, away from the residential area. There are so many locations available in the Airport Industrial Park as well as other more isolated spots that should be considered.

I truly hope this business does not go into the 67th Ave location. This is just another reason for me to move away from Arlington.
